LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

January 4, 1919.

Hon. Charles E. Patton, Secretary of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: I have the honor to submit with the recommendation that it be published as a Bulletin of the Department, the following list of poultrymen in the Commonwealth who offer baby chicks and hatching eggs for sale this year. A similar list was published for the first time last year and proved so popular that it seems advisable to make this an annual Departmental publication.

It has been estimated that from three to five millions of baby chicks are bought in this State every year and it is hoped to get this business for the Pennsylvania poultry raisers rather than for those outside.

This information has been arranged by counties in order to enable the buyers to locate readily the poultrymen nearest them who can furnish the desired breeds or strains. Practically all the better known breeds and strains of poultry now are being raised in Pennsylvania and there are 2,258,800 baby chicks and 1,737,660 hatching eggs offered for sale by the poultry raisers included in this list.

Very respectfully,

E. B. DORSETT,
Director, Bureau of Markets.

AVOID LONG DISTANCE SHIPMENTS OF CHICKS AND HATCHING EGGS

Transportation facilities necessarily will continue to be overburdened with government shipping during the period of demobilization and occupation. Because of this congestion there are many risks involved in transporting highly perishable commodities and there is greater need than ever for care in the handling of baby chicks and hatching eggs.

In order to lessen the demands on the freight and express facilities, chicks and eggs should be shipped to near-by points by wagon or automobile, whenever practicable. Many poultry raisers report that they have found Parcel Post the most satisfactory method of shipping during the past year. It would seem that the Parcel Post should be particularly useful in those sections of the State not well served by express and freight service. However, the best methods of shipping must be decided by the individuals concerned who should be governed by the severity of the weather and the distance to be traveled.

The important thing is for buyers to become familiar with the poultry raisers in their vicinity who can furnish them with the breeds they desire. The following information relative to the chicks and eggs offered for sale in Pennsylvania has been compiled by counties for the purpose of helping buyers to find what they want near-by, in order to eliminate long distance shipments whenever possible.
